

ING: Global and Domestic Leadership Position

When you choose to do business with the ING family of companies, you are choosing to do business with a global leader.

Every year Fortune publishes a list of the world's leading companies based on revenues; this list is a frequently-cited thermometer – both in the United States and across the globe – of what are thought to be top companies. In 2008, ING Groep N.V. was #7 on the global list, and the only financial services company in the top ten.

ING Groep N.V. is the parent company of ING's U.S. insurance companies, including those often referred to as the ING Life Companies: ReliaStar Life Insurance Company, ReliaStar Life Insurance Company of New York and Security Life of Denver Insurance Company.

While size and scale of the parent organization are considerations, you should consider the relative financial strength of the specific operating company through which you hold your life insurance policy. Several leading financial rating agencies regularly review these companies, and ING's U.S. insurance companies consistently receive among the highest of these ratings. Details of ING's U.S. insurance companies' ratings from A.M. Best and Company, Fitch, Moody's and Standard and Poor's can be found on the reverse.

Before investing, carefully consider your need for life insurance coverage and the charges and expenses of the variable universal life insurance policy. Also consider the investment objectives, risks, fees, and charges of each underlying variable investment option. This and other information is contained in the prospectuses for the variable universal life insurance policy and the underlying variable investment options. Obtain these prospectuses from your registered representative, by calling 877-253-5050, or from www.ing-usa.com and read them carefully before investing.

Life insurance products are issued by ReliaStar Life Insurance Company (Minneapolis, MN), ReliaStar Life Insurance Company of New York (Woodbury, NY) and Security Life of Denver Insurance Company (Denver, CO). Variable universal life insurance products are distributed by ING America Equities, Inc. Only ReliaStar Life Insurance Company of New York is admitted, and its products issued within the state of New York. All are members of the ING family of companies. All guarantees are based on the financial strength and claims paying ability of the issuing insurance company, who is solely responsible for all obligations under its policies.

Variable universal life insurance combines the protection and tax efficiencies of life insurance with the investment potential of a comprehensive selection of variable investment options. The insurance component provides the death benefit coverage and the variable component gives you the flexibility to potentially increase the policy's cash value. Variable insurance products are subject to investment risk, are not guaranteed and will fluctuate in value. In addition, there is no guarantee that any variable investment option will meet its stated objective.
